Latecomers Urge Arena Takeover

Mayor Pete Wilson, backed by his City Council team, hit a bases-loaded homer Friday. It tied the baseball game.

Hizzoner's team saw the need for strong action to keep baseball here and he had the courage to use innovative, negotiating capabilities available to a municipality. As a result, the Padres now have a better chance of staying in San Diego than they have of leaving.

The success of the Mayor's negotiating team has encouraged others to give attention to the remaining professional teams that are likewise troubled. Basketball has reached the critical stage. Hockey is a step behind. Both need a playing facility in which they can play and have enough left over to pay their bills.

It was not surprising, then, that two of the country's top sports personalities recently spelled out that need.

One, teevee's redoubtable sports communicator, Al Couppee, sports director of KGTV, San Diego channel 10, noted on a recent telecast that Bob Breitbard, owner of the Gulls, had lost more than $250,000 last year supporting his team—and that most of it went to the Sports Arena as rent. The time had come, he suggested, for public acquisition of the Arena.

Jack Murphy, dean of San Diego sports analysts, in a column last week in the San Diego Union, urged that the Sports Arena, under lease to Peter Graham, be acquired by local government in an attempt to reduce the $6,000 a night fee Graham must charge to make a profit. The Arena rests on city-owned property. Acquired and operated as a non-profit facility, it would give professional teams a chance to make it here.

When voters turned down Dr. Leonard Bloom's Chula Vista sports palace initiative earlier this month, Dr. Bloom indicated he had no logical place to play his Conquistadors in San Diego—but in Los Angeles he did. Late last week County Supervisor Jim Bear joined the take-over procession with an announcement to the press that he favored county-city acquisition of the Arena.

Bear represents only one-fifth of the supervisorial match-up but he has been involved in some interesting property acquisitions himself and his opinion as well as his expertise should be invaluable.

But Couppee, Murphy and Bear are johnny-come-latelies in the Arena-acquisition business. This column ramrodded the idea more than a year ago.

Here's a column from this page of August 17, 1972:

"As 'America's Finest City Week' gets underway in San Diego tomorrow, its sponsors should take a severe look at an element tarnishing its image.

"By now, it should have dawned on interested parties that the San Diego International Sports Arena has become a cactus in the otherwise Elysian meadows of sports, recreation and tourism.

"The Arena, presently, isn't adding to the 'Finest City' concept.

"The spotlight is focused on that facility for several reasons: One, is that Dr. Leonard Bloom, owner of one ice skating arena with another under construction, has announced that he will build a 20,000-seat competitive facility to house his new ABA basketball team, the San Diego Conquistadors.

"The second reason is a fallout from the first. If he is encouraged to build a facility for basketball, it is an almost certainty that it will house other activities, some of which are now in the SDISA. While Peter Graham, the master leaseholder of SDISA is reputed to have huge stacks of money stashed about, he might elect to turn the Arena back to SDISA bondholders, and they to the City of San Diego, if it becomes a big money loser.

"At this point the City might find itself in the awkward position of possessing a tenantless facility. Facing a capable adversary such as Dr. Bloom, it is unlikely that it could be operated profitably for its specified purpose ever again. The City could tear it down and use the valuable land for another purpose, but all of that waste seems shameful.

"We urge that the City enter negotiations with Peter Graham with the objective of putting the Arena in public ownership. There is no indication that Graham would. There is no indication that he would not. But as a man not embarrassed by a profit and faced with growing problems at the Arena, he might. If he turned a small profit in the transaction he could avert the stigma among family and friends of making a bad investment. The public, as buyers, would not be any the worse for it.

"If it reverted to the City after Bloom built his facility, it would be a losing proposition and it would probably be demolished. That would cost money, too. Whatever is done

Car License Stickers Go In Mail Saturday

Fifteen million 1974 vehicle and boat registration renewal plate stickers is silver, with notices will pour into the California postal system this Saturday.

Department of Motor Vehicles Director Robert Cozens urged each vehicle or vessel owner to mail renewal fees to his nearest DMV office rather than stand in line there.

"We have printed local DMV office addresses on most renewal cards," he said. "An envelope mailed to that office will speed a payment there and assure that the 1974 registration card and sticker will be promptly be on its way back to the owner."

An earliest-ever registration deadline of February 1, 1974, the rest of California's motorist faces motorist, Cozens warned. The Vehicle Code sets the date as the first Friday in February, which falls on the first day of the month in 1974.

The color of the new license plate sticker is silver, with black lettering; it is to be placed on the upper right recess of the vehicle's rear plate.

Cozens reminded motorists that DMV needs both parts of the registration card. One portion will be retained for the department's files and the other portion will be stamped and returned to the vehicle owner.

More than half of California's 600,000 motorcycle owners are not affected by the February deadline because they have been assigned individual renewal dates scattered through the year.

The rest of California's motorist faces motorist, Cozens warned. The Vehicle Code sets the date as the first Friday in February, which falls on the first day of the month in 1974.

HONORED — Dr. Frank B. Gigliotti and his wife, Jenny, display a copy of the Luzzi Bible, recently adopted and new being distributed in Italy. Dr. Gigliotti has returned from a recent trip to Italy where he was honored for the twelfth time.

Italian Masons: Academy Awards More Medals to Lemon Grove Man

If Italy wants to know why her balance of trade is beginning to favor the United States it may be because Lemon Grove's Dr. Frank B. Gigliotti is bringing home an increasingly large collection of Italian gold medals.

He did it again this month! He brought back from Rome a silver-dollar-sized solid-gold medal acclaiming him an Academician of the Academy of the Mediterranean in Rome. The award carries a Doctor of Learning degree. The Academy is one of the oldest in Rome; dating back some 900 years.

The presentation was made by Prince Giangraco Alliata, last prince of the reigning kings of Sicily. The medal commemorates the Italian Constitution's 17, 18 and 19 Articles—freedom of speech, religion and assemblage. They were written into the Constitution by Dr. Gigliotti in 1937. Dr. Gigliotti and his wife, Jenny, who live at 3785 Gigliotti dr., Lemon Grove, had been invited to Rome so that he might address a meeting of Italian Masons on September 20—the Italian national holiday. Because of conditions of health, and other reasons, he had not been able to accept. That proved no insurmountable obstacle to the Italians. They simply deferred that celebration until September 29.

So he delivered his address before 2,000 Italian Grand Lodge Masons and was presented with two gold medals for his effort in gaining the return of Masonic property which had been confiscated by Benito Mussolini during his reign. Dr. Gigliotti had been awarded nine gold medals in Italy several years ago.

als in Italy several years ago which he displayed at a banquet in Balboa Park during which he was honored as "Kiwanis Man of the Year" in 1968.

With the one he was to get from the Academy of the Mediterranean, he would have a total of twelve gold medals. Dr. Gigliotti also brought back with him one of the first of the new, unified Bibles being distributed in Italy. It was Dr. Gigliotti, he said, who proposed to the then grand master of the Masons and to Giordano Gamberini, a leader in the Protestant church in England and a scholar of Hebrew and Greek, that they adopt the Luzzi version of the Bible. It had been written in Switzerland more than 100 years ago. It was approved by the various denominations. Pope John urged the adoption. So did the Hebrews, the Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholics and Protestants.

"It is one of the most significant actions of the church community in years," he said. "For the first time it brings unanimity among the groups."

Such a trip wouldn't be complete without a little Gigliotti humor. "In Rome we were transported by an archangel," he said. "A volunteer driver, Dr. Gianfranco Arcangelo, chauffeured us all over Italy," he said slyly.

Three schools and a home were vandalized during the long Thanksgiving weekend, and two fire extinguishers were stolen from a fourth school, according to reports filed with the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station.

At Monte Vista High School, three pieces of louvered glass were removed from a window in Room 101 and smashed on nearby steps.

Cabinets in Rooms 12 and 9 of Mt. Vernon Elementary School were ransacked and the contents strewn about the floor.

Spring Valley Junior High School reported bulbs were taken from flood light sockets and thrown to the ground, a fire alarm call box was smashed, wires to a pay telephone were cut and the intruders made off with a fire extinguisher.

A vacant residence at 4313 Resmar, Spring Valley, got the attention of vandals, who broke out front windows.

And at Rancho Elementary School in Spring Valley, burglars took two fire extinguishers worth $40, it was reported.

Building Permits Over Half Million

More than a half-million dollars in construction was represented during October with the issuance of 94 building permits in Spring Valley and Lemon Grove, the county's department of building inspection has reported.

Total dollar value was $575,914, of which $304,873 was in Spring Valley and $271,041 in Lemon Grove. One Lemon Grove commercial structure represented $195,372 of the total.

LG School Board Delays Pay, Cuts Milk Prices

Members of the Lemon Grove school board Tuesday night delayed accepting compensation for their labors from January 1 to July 1, 1974, and, with the aid of a state subsidy, voted to cut prices in school cafeterias of a half-pint of milk from ten cents to seven.

Although Dr. Robert Sutton, district superintendent, told the board it could, under terms of AB 1439, vote themselves a salary of $20 per meeting as of the first of the year, the board, on motion of John Linn, voted unanimously to delay action until a new budget is adopted by July 1.

Linn said he felt there should "be no raise in the middle of the year," even though Sutton said a small transfer in the budget would cover costs of about $1,200 for the first six months of 1974. Board members now serve without compensation.

Sutton expressed his personal opinion that the "legislation is long overdue and governing boards of school districts have been discriminated against in terms of out-of-pocket expense as compared to other boards and commissions."

Milk prices will become effective next Monday. Board action came after assistant superintendent Paul Reynolds told members the state had authorized, November 1, a four cent per half-pint subsidy, enabling school districts to lower prices to students. The board voted to lower the price by three cents after being told the extra state funds would provide a hedge against a wholesale price hike.

Sutton also informed the board that county supervisors had told Murray Hill condominium developers they would have to provide a foot path access for school children attending Vista La Mesa Elementary School.

The building complex is located on Murray Hill Drive between Waite Drive and Hoffman Street, and will comprise 72 duplex units. Supervisors acted after Sutton said children walking to school would have to detour a mile around the project, even if they live only a few blocks away.

Sutton, who appeared in opposition to the project, said supervisorial approval of a plot plan was "very surprising, but we are pleased that access will be granted." He also suggested that flood control and gas company easements on or adjacent to the 14-acre project could be purchased and paved to provide access routes.

Vandalism at the district school sites, costing about $20,000 to $25,000 a year, could be more easily controlled with fencing, as has been done in San Diego. Although the board referred the project to the administration for a further study, members authorized hiring W. L. Bartholomew, recently retired from the district, as an engineering consultant to provide fencing plans.

Bartholomew brought to the meeting a drawing proposing an inner fence to be constructed at Lemon Grove Junior High School, at a cost of approximately $5,000 for materials and labor. However, after Warren Buckner suggested a perimeter fence surrounding the school, the board delayed acting on the proposal.

Total cost to the district for inner, eight-foot fencing at all six schools, would cost about $35,000, Bartholomew told the board. His consultant fee was set at $7.48 per hour.

Revision of district policy concerning maternity leave was set over, after members had considered a request by Mrs. Beverly Rothwell for a waiver. Currently, no teacher may continue past the sixth month of pregnancy.

After President James Dorman said that in view of pending court decisions each case should be decided separately, the board sent the waiver back to Mrs. Rothwell with the request that she furnish, month to month, a doctor's statement certifying she is fit to teach second grade at San Altos school.

Old Time Days Set April 24-28

Annual "Old Time Days" has been scheduled for April 24 through 28, 1974, it was announced by the Lemon Grove Old Times Days Association. The traditional parade will step off at 11 a.m. April 27, a Saturday.

The event will honor the citizens of Lemon Grove "who have pressed for community identity," according to Dell Lake, association president. "This celebration is for the community, and we'd like everyone to take part, so mark the dates on your calendar and plan to be there."

The association will meet Wednesday, December 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the law offices of James Dorman, 7748 Broadway. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

It's That Time Again: Burglars Strike Hard

Burglars struck at least 14 times in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend, and deputies warned there are more on the way, since "it's the season."

A marked upswing in residential burglaries and car prowls always comes during the holiday season, said old hands at the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station.

Reports of prowlers ranged from what deputies noted was apparently a professional job in which thieves made off with over $4,500 worth of jewelry to the loss of small amounts of cash.

Mrs. Lee S. Packard, 10010 Country View rd., Mt. Helix, reported the jewelry loss, with the most costly item an engagement ring valued at $2,300. The ring contained a one-carat diamond in the center, surrounded by smaller diamonds. Deputies said the house had been carefully ransacked during daylight hours Monday, apparently by professional burglars who knew exactly what to look for.

Other thefts reported by the hard-working deputies included two prowls at the eastern end of the Casa de Oro shopping center, at Bertrand's Barber Shop, 10014 Campo rd., and a next door beauty parlor, House of Gings, 10016 Campo rd. A total of $60 was missing from both businesses.

Joseph A. Jellison, 7410 Lime st., Lemon Grove, reported Monday he was missing a tape deck and tapes worth $500, stolen from his car while it was parked overnight in front of his apartment complex.

Richard D. Lawrence, 3320 Vista ave., Apartment 3, Lemon Grove, reported $30 in cash was missing from his abode.

Helen M. Bullock, 3158 Fair Acres, Spring Valley, reported the theft of $25 in cash, and Andy Smith Jr., 8608 Belford, Spring Valley, told deputies a camera and projector worth $150 were missing after prowlers paid him a nocturnal visit.

Judith M. Cash, 3110 Vista, Lemon Grove, reported $600 worth of stereo equipment and tapes were stolen while she was absent from her residence from Wednesday to Friday.

Farmers Insurance agent Vic Hawkins, 9628 Campo rd., Spring Valley, said thieves ripped off two tape recorders, a desk calculator and a roll of stamps while he was closed for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Burglars got a television set, a coat and some coins kept in a jar, Maxine Kygar, 7615 Mt. Vernon ave., complained to deputies, and Donald T. Philby, 7645 Buena Vista said $225 worth of tools were missing from his garage after thieves paid him a visit. Both residences are in Lemon Grove.

Charles F. Klee, 9128 Cambon, Spring Valley, noted the theft of a gun, bicycle and a radio, worth $140, while Ernest P. John said he was missing a $55 watch. John lives at 2995 Crane, Lemon Grove.

S.V. Man Indicted In Marijuana Sale

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—A Spring Valley man was one of three indicted Wednesday by the County Grand Jury on a charge that they sold 500 see," Ginn said, describing the kilos of marijuana to undercover agents.

Jay Thomas Holder, 27, of 3508 Garcia Paseo, together with his confederates sold the half-ton of pot to agents at a downtown Chula Vista corner, arrest records show. Ar-the homicide report said, but ransacked for the sale were did not indicate how much money was taken. The room where the slaying took place is not visible from the service station driveways, and Ginn said customers might not have been aware of the slaying.

Police Seek Killer of LG Man

San Diego police are still searching for the slayer of Robert Arnold Hoke, 24, of 2327 Alton st., Lemon Grove, whose body was found about 3:30 p.m. Monday at the service station where he worked.

According to Homicide Lt. Les Ginn, no further developments were turned up after Hoke was found bludgeoned to death during an apparent robbery at Thrifty Oil Service, 6311 Imperial ave.

The body was discovered, Lt. Ginn said, by a fellow employee who had been gone from the station for about an hour. Hoke was found lying face down in a pool of blood in a small room of the service department.

"We'll just have to wait and see," Ginn said, describing the death weapon as similar to a tire iron or sharp knife-like instrument. Hoke had been struck at least two or three times, he added.

Money normally kept hidden at the station was missing, but the homicide report said, but ransacked for the sale were did not indicate how much money was taken. The room where the slaying took place is not visible from the service station driveways, and Ginn said customers might not have been aware of the slaying.

Plan Car Wash

Members of the Chicano Club at Lemon Grove Junior High School will hold a car wash this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Shell service station, 3015 Imperial.

Funds raised will help defray costs of the annual toy and clothing drive, which benefits an orphanage in Tijuana.

New Program To Assist Needy Begins Jan. 1

Gold-colored U. S. Treasury or blind, or disabled should checks to be delivered on Jan. 1, 1974 to 25,000 aged, blind and disabled persons will mean the beginning of a new program which will replace present public assistance payments now paid by San Diego County.

The new Supplemental Security Income Program replaces present Federal-State County programs of assistance to needy aged, blind and disabled. It will be federally administered by the Social Security Administration. The new program will have nationally uniform eligibility requirements and minimum income provisions. An individual with income and resources below $1500 or a couple with income and resources below $2250 will be eligible.

"These are general guidelines," Arlyn B. Carr, Social Security District Manager in San Diego was quick to point out. "It does not mean that people with income and resources in excess of those amounts are automatically excluded," Carr said. "We want to talk to people who may be eligible right now and we are asking them to call or visit any of our eight San Diego County Social Security offices," Carr continued.

Those now receiving public assistance payments do not have to apply. Over 25,000 San Diego County residents now receiving public assistance payments because they are among the needy aged, blind or disabled have been converted over to the supplemental security income program and in January will be among those receiving the gold-colored checks.

Those not receiving public assistance who are in need and who are age 65 or older, will be among those receiving the gold-colored checks. "These are general guidelines," Arlyn B. Carr, Social Security District Manager in San Diego was quick to point out. "It does not mean that people with income and resources in excess of those amounts are automatically excluded," Carr said. "We want to talk to people who may be eligible right now and we are asking them to call or visit any of our eight San Diego County Social Security offices," Carr continued.

SD Opera To Present 'Figaro'

Basso Norman Treigle returns to the San Diego Opera following his extremely successful "Mefistofele," this time as the fun-loving Figaro in Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" at the Civic Theatre, Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. and Dec. 2 at 2:30 p.m.

Appearing with Treigle will be John Darrenkamp as Count Almaviva, Johanna Meier as the Countess, Joy Clements as Susanna and Susanne Marée as Cherubino.

The production, conceived and directed by James de Blasis, will be conducted by Walter Herbert, general director of the San Diego Opera. The orchestra will be composed of members of the San Diego Symphony.

OLD AND RARE—A $25,000 antique Aubusson carpet, displayed here by Marcia Binkert, will be one of the items up for bid at next week's two COMBO auctions. The carpet, a rare tapestry over 150 years old, was donated by Mrs. Joel Cornish of La Jolla. It is one of hundreds of items worth more than $525,000 to be offered for sale. The auctions are scheduled December 5 on both Channel 10 and Channel 15, and at COMBO BRAVO, a black-tie dinner auction at the El Cortez Hotel December 8.

Toll Bridge Rates Cut For Campers

The California Toll Bridge Authority has voted a $1.4 five Jan. 1.

The toll cut was prompted by the new State law (AB 505) requiring that all vehicles be licensed commercially, starting in 1974. Owners of such vehicles who use them only for transporting people now qualify for a non-commercial license—and the regular auto toll.

Lupus Foundation Seeks Area Members

The Lupus Erythematosus Chapter for the City of Hope is seeking people in Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, and surrounding areas who are interested in the formation of a local chapter.

Systemic Lupus Erythematosus (LE) frequently mimics rheumatoid arthritis and symptoms are so varied and common to other diseases it is usually diagnosed only through antibody tests in the laboratory.

The disease is said to be far more common than rheumatic fever, leukemia, cystic fibrosis, muscular dystrophy, all four-wheel, two-axle multiple sclerosis and other hicles (except buses) as Class better known diseases. The Lupus Chapter endeavors to acquaint the public with the importance of LE as an unsolved medical problem worthy of charitable support, thus aiding the care of patients and research leading to a cure for those who suffer from Lupus.

All interested parties are urged to call Mrs. Moseley at 444-5747.

Deddeh Feted by 400 At Coronado Banquet

There's no question about how the Democrats view the Republican economy — inflationary!

Inflation has become so bad that the cost of a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner has risen to $125.

The dinner was a fundraiser for Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, the Democratic state representative of this district who resembles a Republican almost as often as he does a Democrat.

The highly respected Assemblyman garnered about $40,000 which will be used to make his fifth biennial race in the 77th Assembly District.

More than 400 well-wishers attended the dinner last week at Hotel del Coronado. Bigwig Democrats paid personal tributes to him, as well they might since Deddeh is the strong Democratic base in a Republican-voting district.

'Messiah' In 18th Year At San Diego State

For the 18th year, San Diego State's orchestra and chorin will present performances of "The Messiah" during the holiday season.

Howard Hill, orchestra conductor, and David M. Loomis, one of the chorus conductors, will jointly lead the performances. The chorus numbers 400 voices.

General admission is $2, with faculty, staff, alumni and students entering for $1. Children under 12 are free. There will not be an advance ticket sale.

Rebekahs Plan Deputy Elections

Election of a district deputy president for the 1974-1975 year will occupy members of the Mesa Jewel Rebekah Lodge 409, I.O.O.F., when they meet Wednesday night, Dec. 5 at 7:30 at the VFW Building, 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

Noble Grand Mrs. Stella Bono will preside, with Mrs. Stella Eckenroth, Vice Grand, assisting.

Announcement of the Advancement Club's Christmas party has been made for Saturday, December 8, at 6 p.m. A potluck dinner, a business meeting and exchange of gifts are scheduled events. Mrs. Martha Purdy is general chairman for the event, which will be held at 3926 Massachusetts ave., La Mesa.

World premieres of four ballets, two revivals and the favorite "Swan Lake," Act II, will be presented by San Diego Ballet Company during their "Holiday Dance Festival."

The "Festival" begins with three performances Dec. 15 and 16 at City College Theatre on C street between 14th and 15th streets and concludes with three other performances Dec. 28 and 29, at the same location.

The 276-seat City College Theatre was first used by the San Diego Ballet during their "Summer Dance Festival" which began in June.

Reserved seating is $5. Tickets are available from San Diego Ballet, P. O. Box 82471, San Diego 92138 until Dec. 3, when City College Theatre box office will be open daily.

Iowa State Here For Aztec Finale

Unwanted, unranked and unloved, San Diego State University closes out the 1973 football season Saturday night at 7:30 in San Diego Stadium against Big 8 Conference foe Iowa State.

San Diego State boasts the top passer and total offense leader in the NCAA in Jesse Freitas and has the best passing attack in college football. The team is also ninth in total offense, seventh in defense against the score and tight end Darold Nogle is fifth in receiving.

With an 8-1-1 season and the Pacific Coast Athletic Association championship, the Aztecs enter the final week of the season without a post season bowl bid and unranked in both the wire service polls.

Last week against North Texas State, the Aztecs broke loose in a 56-9 romp. The team had 629 yards total offense, the most since State rolled up a record 769 against New Mexico State in 1969. Freitas topped his national passing lead to 20.8 completions per game, hitting 23 of 32 for 321 yards and his total offense lead to 261.1 with 332 yards.

Nogle caught nine passes for 166 yards and two TD's and Greg Moses and Frank Geary both tallied twice. Bill Kramer was the leading Aztec rusher with 90 yards on 10 carries. The Aztecs gained 410 yards passing and 219 rushing.

Iowa State comes into the season finale with a 4-6 record, but has upset two highly rated teams the past two weeks. The Cyclones stopped Missouri 17-7 two weeks ago and then dropped Oklahoma State 28-12 last week.

With a bit of luck Iowa State could be 8-2 instead of 4-6. The Cyclones have lost three games by two points (Arkansas 21-19, Kansas State 21-19 and Kansas 22-20) and another to Colorado 23-16.

Food Stamp Allotment Up

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that food stamp coupon allotments will increase on Jan. 1, 1974 for all participants in the food stamp program in the 48 contiguous states and the District of Columbia. The Food Stamp Act, as amended by the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (Public Law 93-86), requires that coupon allotments be adjusted semi-annually to reflect changes in the prices of food as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The allotment increases are based on the cost of the USDA economy food plan as it is computed from Bureau of Labor Statistics food prices. The cost of the economy food plan through Aug. 31, 1973 was $141.60 for a family of four with school children. Accordingly, USDA will raise the value of the coupon allotment from $116 to $142 for a family of four and make appropriate adjustments for other household sizes.

A new business has come to Lemon Grove, and three others have changed hands recently in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area.

Opening specials are featured at Jim's House of Broasted Chicken and Coffee Shop, 7125 Broadway, Lemon Grove, in the Alpha Beta shopping center.

In addition to in-house service, Jim's also features take-out and home delivery service. The firm also operates in Chula Vista.

Also in Lemon Grove, the Popular Liquor and Deli at 7826 Broadway is under new ownership. Ralph and Rose Schwartz of San Diego have purchased the business from Sam Kahan, and have been operating it since November 15.

In Spring Valley, two eateries have changed hands recently. The Stevens are from St. Louis, Mo., and the Ox Bow is their first venture in the area. They purchased the popular meeting place from Jim Campbell in August.

Emergency Radio Net Operational

San Diego County's emergency care radio network will be completely operational within four to six weeks with the installation of 84 mobile two-way radios in public and private ambulances.

John Sauvajot, assistant director of the Department of General Services, said most of the radios are now on hand and installation in private ambulances will begin shortly.

Incorporated cities in the county will sign contracts agreeing to installation and maintenance of the radios by county personnel.

The City of San Diego will use the county radios but will install and maintain them itself, Sauvajot said.

The emergency care radio network has been in operation since 1969. Nineteen hospitals have purchased equipment to permit them to use the communications system.

Purchase of the two-way ambulance radios to complete the network was approved last May by the Board of Supervisors.

Head Start Joins Special Food Plan

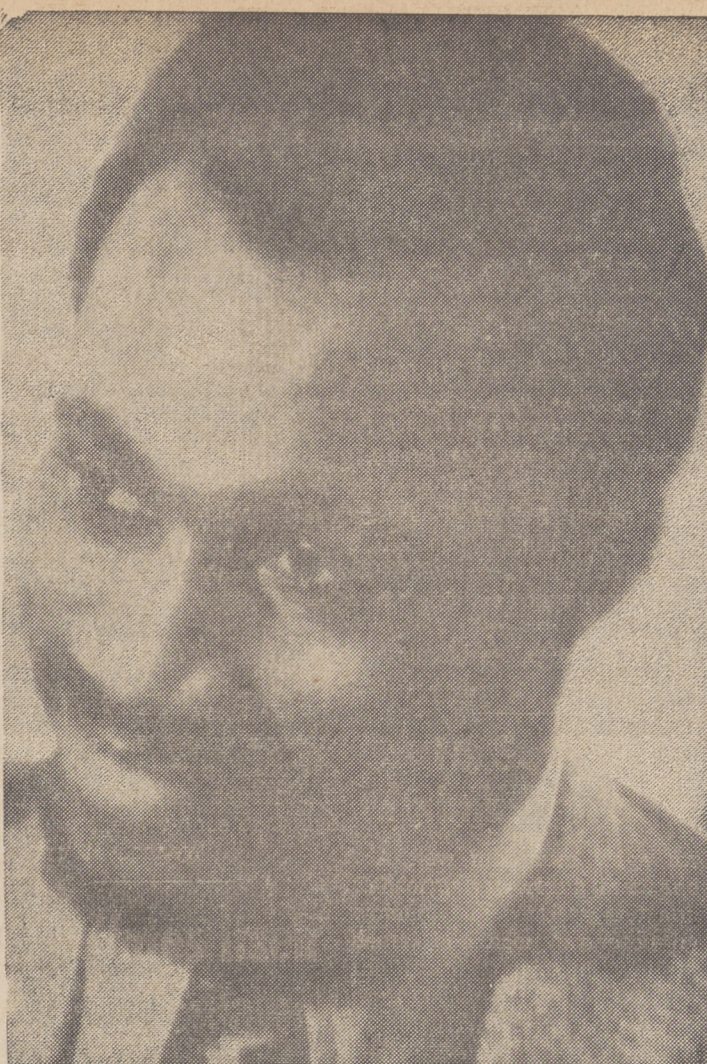

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that all Head Start Programs will, at the first of January, be permitted to participate in the Special Food Service Program for Children.

At present, Head Start projects whose food service has been paid for from Head Start funds are not permitted to take part in USDA's Special Food Service Program. The decision to exclude them was made four years ago, on the basis of budgetary considerations at that time.

That decision has now been reviewed on the basis of current funding policies for food service in the Head Start Programs, and it has been decided to end the exclusion. Effective Jan. 1, 1974, Head Start Programs will be permitted to participate in the Special Food Service Program for Children at the standard rates specified by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) which administers the program.

State Sets New Minimum Wage

A new minimum wage for California's working men and women, apprentices and students, has been proposed by the State Industrial Welfare Commission.

Industrial Welfare Commission Chairman Theodore J. Todd announced a $2 an hour minimum wage scale for adults, $1.80 for apprentices or learners, and $1.70 for minors or student workers.

He also pointed out the Commission will issue two sets of orders: one for the new minimum wage scale, and another for hours and working conditions for workers.

Districts Alerted

A new "early warning" system to alert interested governmental bodies many months sooner about proposed planning and zoning matters has been approved by County Supervisors.

The board directed its staff to initiate procedures to notify cities and special districts about planning and zoning matters affecting them at the time an application is made. Present procedure is to alert interested parties about 10 days before a formal hearing.

Supervisors were told the previous system oftentimes gave persons wishing to appear little time to prepare their case if they wished to testify. The period between application and hearing date can amount to several months or more.

Burglars Busy At Nine Area Residences

A rash of burglaries recently plagued sheriff's deputies in both Lemon Grove and Spring Valley.

At least nine house thefts were reported to the Sheriff's station, ranging from a prowler at Gaetano's Pizza, 10025 Campo rd., Casa de Oro, who made off with $65 in beer and wine, to the theft of $1,065 in auto parts from the home of Leo W. Frish, 515 Hotz, Spring Valley.

Others reported included the burglary of the home of Nelson L. Reagan, 4222 Helix del Sur, Casa de Oro, where thieves took a .22 caliber revolver and 800 rounds of .22 ammunition, plus five boxes of 12 gauge bird shot and $50 cash.

W. Eddie Johns, 7641 Circle dr., Lemon Grove, reported the theft of a $240 color portable television set from a den which is separated from his home.

Coin Acceptors, Inc., 6931 North ave., Lemon Grove, told deputies the business was prowled during the night, with some $326 in cash missing from a secret hiding place. Information Centers Planned For State

The California Department of Transportation will ask a variety of companies to participate in a test program to build information centers along state highways, James A. Moe, the Department's director told the California Highway Commission last week.

The information centers, which would provide adequate parking, restrooms, drinking water and public telephone service, would furnish motorists brand names of gas, food and lodging and nearby points of interest which the motorist could encounter along the next 50, 75 or 100 miles.

Moe said the operations, standards and adherence by the information centers to state and federal regulations will be administered by the department with the assistance of the Motorist Information Advisory Committee and the Airspace Advisory Committee.

Moe said the Motorist Information Advisory Committee has selected Interstate Routes 5, 10, 15, and 80 in their entirety for the test. The committee consists of representatives of the California Roadside Council, an outdoor advertising agency, an automobile club, and the travel and recreation department of

I-8 Drainage Bids Called By State

Drainage improvements are scheduled for about a 10.5-mile stretch of Interstate 8 near Alpine, San Diego County, according to bids called recently by the Division of Highways of the California Department of Transportation.

Additional dikes, ditches and other drainage facilities will be installed, to reduce erosion of the median and shoulders by storm waters.

Work will begin at Peutz Valley rd., two miles west of Alpine, and continue east on steep alignment, to a half-mile east of the Sweetwater River.

Bids will be opened December 13 in Los Angeles. Approximately $133,000 is available for the project.

the State Chamber of Commerce, plus representatives of the department's right of way, traffic and roadside rest branches.

He said that the state and local chambers of commerce, the Northern and Southern Automobile Clubs, as well as visitor and convention bureaus, have said they will cooperate to a large extent. Moreover, there is strong indication that private industry, such as outdoor advertising companies and automobile clubs, are very interested in participating in the testing program.

Commissioner Vernon J. Cristina of San Jose noted that advertising revenue from the program will be used to cover all costs. He predicted that if the motorist information program is successful, there will be manned centers at some of the points of entry into the state, information facilities at all roadside rests, plus facilities on routes with long stretches between roadside rests in such suitable locations of easy exit and re-entry as roadside business areas served by frontage roads.

The motorist information program will be reviewed procedurally and recommended to the California Highway Commission by the Department Director through its Airspace Advisory Committee.

Moe urged those interested in participating in the program to contact the Airspace-Multiple Use sections of the appropriate district office of the Department of Transportation.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

The skillful negotiations completed last week in behalf of the people of San Diego and points north, east and south, by Mayor Pete Wilson and attorney Neil Papiano did more than just keep the Padres in San Diego.

Chances are, the Padres would have stayed anyway, for for one more year. That's the plan behind the maneuvering of Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and a select group of National League owners.

They were, in fact, willing to carry the Padres as a league entry for one year to prevent the San Diego franchise from moving to Washington, D.C.

The Wilson-Papiano agreement made the Padre's stay more permanent. Papiano represents a group headed by Mrs. Marjorie Everett—and she's quite a lady. Her emergence as the power behind the new Padre ownership dumped cold water on the pot of intrigue Commissioner Kuhn and his bunch had cooking on the back burner.

In fact, the reported resentment of Mrs. Everett among National League owners could very well stem from the fact that with her hand on the reins, the Padre franchise will be 'rounding the turn from expansion growing pains to begin a stretch drive that includes pennant contention and healthy attendance.

And Kuhn and company now have to look elsewhere for the instrument of their master plan.

You see, it is the wish of the commissioner and his small party of collaborators to move the San Diego franchise, but not to Washington and not this year. Their goal was Toronto, next year.

In Escrow For Toronto

It was, and probably still is, the hope of Commissioner Kuhn and his little band to furnish a National League franchise to Toronto when that Canadian community celebrates the opening of its new stadium in 1975.

It would be a natural for the National League, of course. Guaranteed instant success, complete with Canada-wide television and broadcast rights plus extensive U.S. markets in Buffalo, Rochester and most of upper New York. The natural rivalry between English speaking Toronto and French speaking Montreal make it a promoter's dream.

There are investors, cash in hand and highly acceptable to current owners, waiting in the wings. And that includes one group that would have purchased the club and kept it in San Diego for another "lame-duck" season, just to have the franchise in hand when the facility in Toronto is ready.

But Mrs. Everett came in and challenged city hall. She went against the master plan. She took the helm of the good ship Padre and set her own course.

Mrs. Everett bid for the franchise for the purpose of keeping it in San Diego. And in so doing, she drew the ire of the owners who supported the Canadian caper.

The prospects of success seemed stacked against her. There was a power play of owners thinly hiding their resentment against her for the rescue of the franchise in its own town. And there was a stadium contract that had 15 years to run and seemed as solid as a tax assessor's heart.

But a long and labored series of negotiations between Papiano and Mayor Wilson brought forth a seemingly fair and honorable tenant agreement.

It's not at all one sided. The pack makes concessions to the new owners, but it's a far cry from the give-away offered by the Washington Stadium authorities to Joe Danzansky in support of his bid to buy the franchise.

Will Owners Embrace Mrs. Everett?

But with one problem cleared up, another looms. There is talk National League owners will not sanction Mrs. Everett's hand on the Padre tiller. They point fingers and mention her "involvement" with former Illinois governor Otto Kerner, who got caught with his hand in the public till.

Mumblings are heard that Mrs. Everett will never be accepted in the tepee of the National League chiefs, that they will vote her out of her franchise.

But wait. Hold on there. That sounds like talk behind a busted hand. And you can't bluff a fighter with scare talk.

Mrs. Everett is no ordinary, run-of-the-mill, poor-little-rich gal begging for acceptance from the gang. She's a roofer, tootin' fighter who comes out smokin' and scratchin'.

If the owners gut up a "no" vote, she'll take 'em to court and teach 'em "no" ain't necessarily so. And that could open the door to a lot of legal second looking by courts and congress and such, a prospect frowned on by even the most ardent Toronto supporter.

Seems National League owners have a tigress by the tail. And won't it be somethin' to watch a team run by this lady battle through the National League west this summer?

Matadors Water Polo Team Winds Up In Fourth Spot

By Rodger Price

Mt. Miguel's varsity water polo team, last year's league champions, closed out this year's season with two victories to finish in fourth place in league standings.

The team, coached by Roger Moreau, wound up with an 8 won, 6 lost record.

A fired-up Matador team almost knocked off Monte Vista in a game which seemed a rematch of last year's championship tussle, won by Mt. Miguel.

The Matadors led 5-3 at halftime, but star Steve Solomon fouled out in the third quarter, after plunking in four goals. His loss was severely felt, for after the game was tied 6-6 at the end of the third quarter, Monte Vista came on for three goals in the fourth while blanking Mt. Miguel to win, 9-6.

The Matadors took on El Capitan and soundly crushed them, 21-8. Solomon led all scorers with 10 goals, followed by Mark Price with five, Gary Horgan with four and Rodger Price with two.

In the season finale, Mt. Miguel had to fight back in the second half to overcome Helix, 14-8. As usual, Solomon provided the top effort with eight goals. Mark Price added two, and Horgan, Paul Kliens and Peter Rounds tallied one apiece.

Solomon completed the season with 95 league goals, 41 ahead of the second place man in the league, Horgan and Mark Price tied for twelfth with 26 each.

It will be very surprising if Solomon is not named the league's Most Valuable Player for the second year in a row. He is also expected to receive All-American honors.

Matadors Whip Pointer in CIF Grid Playoffs

by Bill Ott, Jr.

SPRING VALLEY—Mt. Miguel's Matadors, with a key fourth quarter interception and scoring drive, came from behind to bounce Pt. Loma's Pointers, 21-14 in the opening round of CIF football play on Matador turf Friday night.

The win advanced the Matadors to the quarterfinals against San Marcos Saturday night at Vista.

On their first possession of the ball the Matadors rolled 68 yards in eight plays for a touchdown with ace running back Tom Gallagher scoring from the two. John Hulsey booted the PAT and it was quickly Mt. Miguel, 7-0.

Pt. Loma narrowed the score in the closing minutes of the second quarter when the Pointers' superb running back, John Finley, scored on an eight yard run and failed the PAT.

Possessing the ball for the first time in the second half, the Pointers moved 54 yards downfield in just five plays to take the lead when Ken Nester bolted 24 yards into paydirt.

Trailing 14-7 moving into the fourth quarter, the Matadors went to work. Steve Fleming capped a drive with a four-yard burst and the Matadors closed in, 14-13.

As they have in past games, the Matadors waited until the final moments of the contest to stage a rally following a costly turnover by the opposition. It appeared that the Pointers would grind out the clock behind the running of Finley and Nester, but they took to the air when Ruben Ray demolished their playoff hopes with an interception. The Matadors moved offensively from the Pointer 48.

Gallagher scored what proved to be the clincher with a one-yard blast. Quarterback John Madigan successfully ran the PAT for the final, 21-14.

USD Opens Cage Season Friday

The University of San Diego opens its 1973-74 basketball season this week with a homecoming of sorts but the Toreros don't expect to be treated too kindly by their hosts.

USD, with a 19-9 won-lost record last year including a third place finish in the NCAA District 8 College Division playoffs, travels to meet the San Francisco Dons, Friday, and then moves over for a trip to San Jose State, Saturday.

Five members of the Torero team plus head coach Jim Brovelli and assistant coach John Cunningham are from the Bay Area.

Brovelli, his first year here, was an all-West Coast Athletic Conference guard in his senior year at USF in 1964 and helped his team to the NCAA regional playoffs in both his junior and senior years.

Q's Set For Virginia Tams and Larry Miller

The Q's return home Friday to face the Virginia Tams on the Concourse floorboards.

They'll also face Larry Miller who once called the Conquistadors his team.

It will be the first test of the year for the two teams. Last season they played to a 4-4 standoff.

It might be called the test of the coaches with Al Bianchi doing his job against Wilt Chamberlain.

Last week, San Diego fans and Wilt Chamberlain saw the unveiling of a work of art commemorating a historic day in basketball.

A game, which will quite likely remain etched in the memories of the older generation forever, will now be chiseled into the minds of the young.

At halftime of the San Diego Conquistadors game with the Carolina Cougars in the Concourse, a sculpture commemorating Wilt Chamberlain's immortal 100-point game against the New York Knicks, was unveiled.

The work of noted California sculptor, John Holland, was created under the auspices of the American Gallery of Sports Art in Dallas.

The game which the statue commemorates took place in Hershey, Pa. on March 2, 1962 between the Philadelphia Warriors and the Knicks. Wilt played all 48 minutes in a game that the Warriors won, 169-147. He scored 23 points in the first period on a seven of 14 field goal performance and nine of nine free throws.

In the second period, Wilt hit seven of 12 from the floor and four of five free tosses for 18 points. His 28 third period points came on a 10 of 16 floor performance with eight of eight free throws.

By the final period, Wilt's mates were aware that they were on the threshold of an historical performance and Guy Rodgers, alone, fed-off many of his game high 20 assists as the team came through with 39 feed-ins during the game. Wilt's final period act was a 12 of 21 floor show with seven of 10 from the charity stripe.

He concluded with 36 of 63 from the floor, 28 of 32 free throws, 25 rebounds and two assists with only two personal fouls.

Fred Haney Wins Carbonite Cup

It's not as lucrative as the PGA tour, but for Fred Haney a "fellow can just about get rich on the mini-tour."

Such was Haney's comment after winning Sunday's Carbonite Cup with a five-under par 66 at Whispering Palms Country Club.

Haney edged Howard Twitty of Scottsdale by two strokes and finished on top of the eight-man field to take home first prize of $1,500. In six weeks, the 25-year-old Portland, Ore., professional has banked $14,331, to boost his yearly mini-tour earnings to $42,000. His previous high in the Golf Inns of America was $4,500 for the final event of the six-weeks, and he never dipped below $1,500 any week. Twitty earned $500.

Greg Trompas of San Diego and Terry Florence of Charlotte, N.C., finished with 69s, worth $200 each, followed by Steve Bogan, Yorba Linda; Arnold Salinas, Dallas; and Jeff VanWagenen, Phoenix, with even par 71s, and Lance Suzuki, Hawaii, with a 73. All received $150.

Homeowners Can Now Get Flood Insurance

Unincorporated areas of San Diego County, of which Lemon Grove and Spring Valley are parts, have qualified for a national flood insurance program, and homeowners are eligible to apply for this plan at a nominal yearly fee.

Under the program, which is run jointly by the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the insurance industry, single family homes can be insured for flood and mudslide damage up to $17,500. Up to $30,000 is available for other residential buildings and all non-residential buildings such as businesses, churches, farm and government buildings. Coverage is available in areas tents can be covered up to $5,000.

Additional amounts of insurance where government rate studies have been completed.

should be done now while the facility is still in good shape. "Profitable operation is predicated on keeping present occupants, acquiring the Conquistadors as rent-paying tenants, and others. But good operation apparently won't come under Graham. Imagine, if you will, the ludicrous situation in which the college basketball team plays in the Arena, and the professional team plays in the college's gymnasium. Even Ripley wouldn't believe that!

"Graham is pragmatic enough to recognize the growing hazards. It is no secret that his high demands caused the GOP Convention to shift to Florida. Dr. Bloom was not able to negotiate a lease that was less than twice as much as the next highest lease arrangement in the ABA hoop league and the Gulls had to hike prices to meet new, higher demands. Although Graham announced at the Sportscasters/Sportswriters meeting last week that the Arena 'was in the black' he must be concerned about other matters that will bear on his profit posture. He could lose the Kiwanis Convention penciled in for 1976. He could lose the NCAA Basketball Championship anticipated here in 1975, and there's the Junior Chamber of Commerce Convention listed for 1974. Losing these conventions would also injure the many hotel-motel operators who are still suffering aftershocks of the GOP pull-out earthquake.

"Assuming that Graham would negotiate and the City didn't want to operate the facility, it could be transferred to the County. The County could obtain it on the premise that Arena events are universal in appeal to the entire county populace.

"How could the transfer be made? By trading 40 acres of County land for the Arena's 40 acres. The County would benefit from tax income and both City and County would now be protecting their tourism revenue.

"No matter who operates the Arena, there is a problem that will be dealt with sooner or later as public indignation grows—but it will come as a shock when it happens.

"Some Arena attractions, expressly those built around rock music, are attracting youngsters who come to smoke pot and pop pills. Police are not enforcing narcotics laws vigorously, probably in the interest of averting actions that would cut into Arena revenues.

"Nor are the City fire laws being enforced as scores of youngsters occupy aisles when more popular attractions sell out. Enforcement would seriously hurt the Arena's income whether Graham, City or County owned it.

"With the City's image at stake; with tourism endangered to the degree that conventions are lost; with the thrust stemming from national, state, city and county governments for more recreational facilities for the masses, public ownership of the Arena makes sense.

"County ownership is more of an emotional matter. The County could make additional claims to recreational fame with the Arena to match the City's Stadium in the parks and recreational racket."

RESCUERS AT WORK—The San Diego Mountain Rescue Team, affiliated with the County's Office of Emergency Services, performs difficult tasks at the beck and call of governmental authorities. Vic Hett, left, of Palomar Mountain and Ron Carlson of Pacific Beach carry an injured hiker over rough terrain. Serving without pay, anytime and anywhere needed, members of the team can be called upon to perform light duty rescue work during natural or man-made disasters. Much of their mountain rescue work takes them to Baja or the Sierra Nevadas.

Peace Corps
Hunts For
200 In Area

Two or more years of practical experience can qualify applicants for Peace Corps or VISTA assignments during an "ACTION Days" county-wide search for 200 skilled tradesmen, nurses, teachers, businessmen and other professionally and technically experienced applicants in National City and San Diego county through Dec. 2.

The eight-day drive will mark a cooperative effort between seven Human Resources Development area offices and the San Diego ACTION headquarters, located at 1068 16 st., where applications and information will be available from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends, and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Former Volunteers from the San Diego area will staff the center from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday. Area manager Ralph S. Coleman said that a 24-hour "ACTION Line" will be in service at (714) 293-5083.

Mountain Rescue
Team: Volunteers

Unpaid professionals is erty". In Mexico this is usual what they call themselves in ly vested in the "bomberos", the volunteer rescue corps of or fire-rescue personnel, she the Unified San Diego County said.

Equipment-wise, these non-paid professionals furnish their own — from four-wheel drive vehicles to communication trucks to motorcycles to SCUBA gear. They are covered by State Workmen's Compensation Insurance only while performing within California, otherwise any injuries incurred are to their own risk, according to Mrs. McCoy.

Past President Wes Reynolds, an engineer with the City of San Diego, said the time off from work for search and rescue personnel is usually at the member's expense. At least one company, however, grants paid time off to its employees as a community service.

He said that through mutual aid agreements with law enforcement and other emergency rescue teams, friendly competition is maintained statewide. The various teams are ranked according to their categories and San Diego's unit is currently rated among the tops in California.

Members of the Sheriff's Aero Squadron, acting on their own, frequently volunteer to fly members to remote search areas. Current training emphasis is on man-tracking as a measure to locate lost children, Mrs. McCoy said. Children survive well in such situations due to their lack of emotional crisis tensions, but are often afraid of parental punishment when found. Also the sudden apparition of a large adult looms up in full rescue gear tends to frighten some children into hiding.

"And besides," she said, "lost and frightened children seem to want to hole up under a sheltering bush and sleep soundly, so that a searcher can pass within feet of the waif and never arouse or spot him."

The team can be called upon by the Office of Emergency Services to perform light rescue work during natural or man-made disasters.

Although not actively recruiting members, Mrs. McCoy said that persons between 25 and 35 years old with extensive rescue experience may call her at 276-5360 for information.

New Life Forecast For Valley de Oro Planners

Valley de Oro's Planning the committee's report will Association, in limbo since September when the San Diego County Board of Supervisors withdrew staff support, will probably get a fresh lease on life if an ad hoc committee report is approved at next Tuesday's board meeting, it was learned today.

According to a statement by Allen Coleman, acting chairman of the ad hoc committee and administrator for San Diego County of the environmental development agency, which Lemon Grove is one not only recommend restoration of support to Valley de Oro, but will also urge supervisors to broaden community planning to include several areas not now covered.

In addition to Valley de Oro, planning groups in Julian, Alpine and Sweetwater also suffered loss of staff support through the supervisors' September action. Currently, there are 10 groups with community planning underway, which Lemon Grove is one

Support, however, was not withdrawn from Lemon Grove as it was from Valley de Oro.

Coleman said the ad hoc committee is now finalizing its report, which will recommend strong cooperation between the county and local planning groups, as well as broadening the program.

Roy Dieder, Valley de Oro chairman, said the support was pulled from under his planners the day after the association had approved planning goals. The association met September 12, the supervisors acted September 13.

Dieder said that, despite the supervisors' action, the planning association has continued meeting every second and fourth Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. in Room 1002 of Monte Vista High School.

Last night, Dieder reported, the association continued working on maps and overlays of the Spring Valley area, in order to be ready to resume discussions with supervisors and county planners in the event support is restored.

The community plan will call for controlled growth over a period of 20 years, Dieder said. During the time no staff support has been forthcoming, he added, talks have continued with members of the county planning staff and with supervisors, in continuing efforts to get backing for the community goals.

Some 30 districts, including fire protection, water and school, are involved in the program, he concluded.

Policy, Plans Draw Attention
Of Vote League

The League of Women Voters of Grossmont - El Cajon Valley will have a two-part program for the next series of meetings in November. The first part will be a continuation of the study of County Planning; the second part will be a review of League skills—how non-partisanship is achieved at unit meetings, dos and don'ts for League representatives when observing and gathering information, and other policies.

The first unit meeting in this series was held Nov. 27 at 9:15 a.m. in the home of Mrs. B. Brooks, 1241 N. Marshall rd., Alpine. Two meetings were held yesterday, one at 9:15 a.m. in the home of Mrs. R. Ireland at 6221 Lake Athabaska, San Diego, and an evening meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. S. Orsiek, 4831 69th pl., San Diego.

Today at 9:15 a.m., the hostess will be Mrs. L. Hess, 12729 Casa Vista rd., Lakeside.

The meetings of the League are open to all interested women of voting age. A coffee social time precedes each meeting at which new members are welcomed.

CHP Plans
Drive On Speeders

Drivers who after December 1 violate the new 65 mph speed limit which becomes effective that date on 1,450 miles of California freeways where the previous limit was 70 mph will become special targets for the California Highway Patrol.

CHP Commissioner Walter Pudinski does not, however, anticipate any major problems because of the lower limit. According to Pudinski 85 percent of all California drivers are careful to obey speed laws and only a few of the remainder are frequent violators.

The intensified surveillance will continue on each affected freeway section until the local CHP commander is assured that traffic has become accustomed to the new limit and is complying with it.

The new 65 mph maximum will apply to 33 basically rural locations and traffic experts believe it will save 10 million gallons of fuel a year.

State Seeks
Safety Bids
For I-8, I-5

The California Department of Transportation has called for bids on a project to improve traffic safety at several locations on Interstate Routes 8 and 5 in San Diego County.

Work will consist of installing "vehicle impact attenuators" at the interchange of Route 5 and 8 in San Diego; Grossmont Boulevard pedestrian bridge on Route 8 in La Mesa; and at the 13th Street bridge over Route 5 in National City. The impact attenuators—in this case the hydraulic type—are waterfilled plastic cylinders placed ahead of gorges separating through lanes of the freeway from connecting ramps of the interchange.

If struck by an out-of-control vehicle, water inside the plastic containers dissipates the abnormal force by using it to blow out plugs in the container. Water then spurts into the outside air, having at the same time decelerated the vehicle and lessened severity of the collision. After being struck, the device is refilled with water.

Bids will be opened Dec. 13 in Los Angeles. Approximately $130,000 is available for the project.

L.M. Break-in

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—A Spring Valley youth was put on three years' probation and fined $150 last week in Superior Court after he pleaded guilty to second degree burglary in a pharmacy break-in.

Richard Alan Leighton, 18, of 8854 Noeline ave., was arrested June 13 and charged with breaking into the La Mesa Medical Pharmacy on Garfield ave.

Leighton was 17 at the time and was held in Juvenile Hall for 13 days. He made his guilty plea Oct. 30 as an adult. Three others with him have already been sentenced.

Freedom Shrine Set
For City Concourse

A Freedom Shrine exhibit — consisting of 28 reproductions of famous documents in American history — will be dedicated and placed on permanent display in the lobby of the City Administration Building.

The Freedom Shrine is a gift to the people of San Diego from the Exchange Club of Mission Valley. A noon ceremony will be held at which Mayor Wilson will accept the shrine from the club.

The historical documents to go on display reflect almost 325 years of American history spanning from the Mayflower Compact to the World War II Japanese Instrument of Surrender in the Pacific.

"Shrine's documents vividly illustrate America's precious heritage of freedom and serve as a reminder that this heritage must be protected and revitalized in every generation," Exchange Club Freedom Shrine Committee Chairman Edward Fishman said.

Co-chairmen of the City's Bicentennial Committee — Mrs. Sue Busby and Martin Dickinson — along with several City Councilmen and members of Exchange Clubs throughout San Diego will be present for the noon ceremony.

Toy Alert
Service Now
Available

The State Department of Health will again offer a "Toy Alert Service" to parents and others in California concerned about choosing the right holiday gifts for children. The service was inaugurated last year, in cooperation with federal officials, to insure that toys being sold in California meet state and U.S. safety standards.

"The state's food and drug inspectors are in the field now, recording and handling questions and complaints about toys and other gifts as part of our broadening consumer protection program," said J. M. Stubblebine, M.D., director of the California health agency.

"We urge parents and all those buying toys this month and in December to be aware of possible hazards and to consider the age of the child in selecting a gift."

He said "Helpful Hints in Choosing Safe Toys," a checklist for consumers, is available from offices of the State Food and Drug Section. Locations are listed in telephone directory white pages, under "Consumer Complaints and Protection. Coordinators, of Mission Valley. A noon ceremony will be held at which Mayor Wilson will accept the shrine from the club.

The historical documents to go on display reflect almost 325 years of American history spanning from the Mayflower Compact to the World War II Japanese Instrument of Surrender in the Pacific.

Tartan Wins
Honors Again

For the third consecutive year the Helix High School yearbook, the Tartan, has been awarded first place in the 39th annual yearbook critique and contest conducted by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University New York.

Schools entering this contest are judged according to Mrs. Sue Busby and Martin Dickinson — along with several City Councilmen and members of Exchange Clubs throughout San Diego will be present for the noon ceremony.

Pat Felde is editor-in-chief and Ron Ray is the faculty advisor for the Tartan this year.
